

A Pastor's Heart

Encouragement from Pastor McGill

Will you be made whole!

James 5:16 Confess your faults one to another, and pray one for another, that ye may be healed. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much.

Some time ago while going through a very difficult period in my life I wrote this prayer and prayed it from my heart. As I wrote the words down and prayed the prayer I was healed. I feel the Lord leading me to share this with you today for you to receive healing. You can go to church every Sunday and still need healing. The only way I have made it thus far is through my prayer life and a true relationship with God through Jesus. I am far from perfect and make mistakes often. I have learned where to go to be made whole again.

Father,

You have proven yourself to me more than I deserved, Jesus you have reached out to me and I did not reach back, yet you reached knowing that I would not reach back to you. I want to come back to you. I am now reaching with my heart. It is enveloped in your mercy. Pride is a deceiver. Complacency is your enemy. It's hard to know how far you have fallen until we get close enough to see you for who you really are.

I feel you doing something in my life. You are calling me to go higher, to cast down old habits, old thoughts. You want me to be who you've created me to be. You have called me to represent you in the earth today. Your story must be repeated. The one that has been told from the beginning. Forgive the sins I have committed, abolish the trespasses and iniquities of my past and present. Cause me to see you today and stay close to your heart. Command me as a general would his soldiers. You are my strength and my substance. I will go as long as you supply me. Truth abides only in you. It begins with you and flows to all generations. I will tell your story. I will sing your praises and declare your goodness all the days of my life. Amen

As we prepare to celebrate Fathers day let us honor all Father's and show kindness and respect to them. The true measure of a man's life is determined by how many people are better off because he lived. I encourage you to develop a strong prayer life. Prayer is a difference maker. Happy Father's Day.

Blessings and Peace
